Notes and News from Kristina Wolf Design

Meet the Newest Kristina Wolf Design Team Members

Kristina Wolf Design has been bustling with completion of projects, including the Energy Matters Acupuncture and Qigong facilities (see below), and exciting new projects – both residential and commercial. Helping to kickoff these projects and assist through many aspects of our clients' designs, are two new team members, Terri Revelli, and Mandi Lambert, who has her design degree from the Design Institute of San Diego. Both come with a keen eye for great interior design, attention to detail and the ability to help make completion of all phases of your design project satisfying and stress-free.

Designers of Distinction

Recently Kristina Wolf Design was nominated as a Designer of Distinction in the Residential Contemporary category by the San Francisco Design Center showrooms, with media partners, California Home + Design and 7 X 7 Magazine. This prestigious nomination places us amongst the top interior designers in the Bay Area and holds special meaning to us.

Client Spotlight: Energy Matters

In mid-September, Energy Matters Acupuncture and Qigong held its grand opening celebration, with over 100 guests in attendance. With a blend of East and West, and traditional and contemporary style, the entire interior, from the waiting room and entrance to qigong room to treatment rooms, was designed by Kristina Wolf Design. This new clinic embodies the sense of health and well-being that are at the heart of Energy Matters.

"I appreciated her ability to get inside my head, figure what it is I wanted to express in the world, then do that in a way that truly reflects me. Oh, did I mention that she was mindful of my budget? My new clinic is drop-dead gorgeous, more beautiful than I ever imagined it would be. And, more importantly, it truly reflects the intention and values of my business. When clients walk in, their healing process begins immediately as they take in the sense of calm, serenity and healing created by Kristina's design."

New Projects Getting Underway

Mira Vista Golf and Country Club

More than just a great place to play golf, the Mira Vista Golf and Country Club in El Cerrito was one of the first clubs in California to open its membership to a diverse community, and has long held a legacy of unpretentious camaraderie. Kristina Wolf Design was just selected to redesign and refresh the main restaurant and other public spaces to help bring members to Mira Vista for relaxation and rejuvenation. We'll be taking a fresh approach to this well-situated haven to take advantage of some of the most spectacular views of the San Francisco Bay Area.
